2. Updates from the Division Chair – Dan Moore

(a) Election Results

Dan Moore recognized Alisha Waller who managed the election process this year and thanked her for a job well done. Results of the elections were as follows:

Secretary/Treasurer:	Dave Voltmer
Program Chair (ASEE '04):	Terri Reed Rhoads
Directors:	Ruth Streveler and Emily Allen
FIE steering committee:	Tim Skvarenina

Eric Soulsby, the outgoing Secretary/Treasurer, was thanked for his two terms of service.

(b) Apprentice Faculty Grant Recipients

Recipients for this year in attendance at the meeting were: Betsy Aller and Missy Cummings. Others receiving the award were: Ann McKenna and Cynthia Finley. A fifth recipient, Lisa Bullard, will receive the award next year since she was unable to be in attendance this year.

(c) ERM Mini-grant program

The ERM mini-grant program to support ERM members doing educational projects whose goals are to improve the teaching/learning process in engineering has a September 1st deadline. A handout describing the program was distributed.

(d) Teacher Development Workshops

Ron Miller and Mike Pavelich coordinate teams of two ERMers who travel to campuses to carry out workshops. The cost is split between ERM and the host institution. Teams that had acted in this capacity over the past year included: Alisha Waller & P.K. Imbrie at Kettering; M. Pavelich at Clemson; Ron Miller at Michigan; and Beth Eschenbach at a conference. Rich Layton and Ron Miller were planning one for Utah in August.

(e) Conference reports

ASEE 2003: Sandy Courter will be the program chair.

ASEE 2004: Terri Reed Rhoads will be the program chair.

FIE 2002: To be held in Boston. P.K. Imbrie is the program co-chair.

FIE 2003: To be held in Boulder. Alisha Waller is the program co-chair. They are looking forward to papers “on the edge”; i.e., at the frontiers. Thoughts raised for discussion: (1) The program chair needs good people for innovative sessions, and (2) we have to be willing to not do a 20 minute paper. The idea of a “special sessions chair” with the goal of developing a track of nontraditional sessions was raised.

FIE 2004: To be held in Savannah. An ERM program co-chair is needed. The general chair of the conference is Joe Hughes from Georgia Tech.

FIE 2005: To be held in Indianapolis. An ERM program co-chair is needed.

(f) Awards

Benjamin J. Dasher Best Paper Award (FIE Conference): Dan Moore indicated that this award would not be made for FIE 2001. The process used is to select the best ‘paper plus presentation’ of those made at the FIE. The committee felt that there was no combined paper and presentation worthy of the award this time around. An ERM representative on the Dasher committee for next year is needed.

Helen L. Plants Award for Special Events (FIE Conference): unknown status.

Distinguished Service: unknown status.

(g) FEEL workshop follow-up

Barbara Olds commented on the FEEL workshop held prior to the 2001 conference and indicated that an outcome of the event was a proposal recently submitted to NSF. If funded, it would lead to three different workshops: (1) new teachers, (2) teachers in need of new ideas, and (3) learning scientists and engineering educators.

(h) Feminist Pedagogy workshop

Alisha Waller commented on the Feminist Pedagogy workshop held on Saturday. It was well attended and jointly sponsored by the Women in Engineering Division.

(i) Brochure

Richard Layton invited someone else to continue in this position, saying that the files could be supplied electronically to the new person.

(j) ASEE 2002 review

Larry Richards commented that in hindsight there is a glitch in paper/workshop proposal submission in that many workshops were submitted as papers. The trouble with this is that the workshop slots are determined prior to the paper slots; i.e., the workshops are determined independently from the papers. Larry thanked all who were involved in reviewing abstracts and papers, to which the rest thanked Larry for a job well done.

3. New Business

(a) Seeking volunteers

Dan Moore indicated that we are in need of volunteers for the AFG Committee, FIE '04/'05 program co-chairs, and reviewers.

(b) Web posting of information

Dan Moore indicated that at the ERM Board meeting there was a discussion on using the ERM listserve as a place for job announcements and/or individuals to post information about themselves for possible use in job hunting. To address concerns about an implied ERM endorsement of individual postings, etc. a group of three ERMers will review material and send to the listserve if appropriate.

4. Adjournment

Concluding the discussion on new business led to an adjournment just in time for the next session.
